JAXPORT.

IT'S JUST SMART BUSINESS.

Located in Northeast Florida, in the heart of the South Atlantic, JAXPORT offers worldwide breakbulk, heavy lift and project cargo service from dozens of ocean carriers. Situated at the crossroads of the nation's rail and highway network, JAXPORT terminals are serviced by I-10, I-95 and I-75, and the city has 36 daily train departures via CSX, Norfolk Southern, and Florida East Coast Railway.

BREAKBULK CARGO

JAXPORT has decades of experience handling fertilizer, metals, forest products, perishables and other breakbulk. The port boasts more than 1 million square feet of on-dock warehousing storage and more than 3 million cubic feet of on-dock refrigerated space, with millions of square feet of additional space are located within minutes of port terminals. JAXPORT's equal balance of imports and exports provides backhaul opportunities for importers saving money and maximizing transportation costs.

HEAVY LIFT AND PROJECT CARGO

The recently rebuilt heavy lift cargo berth at JAXPORT's Blount Island Marine Terminal ranks as one of the nation's highest weight-bearing capacity docks, offering up to 1,800 pounds per square foot of load capacity and rail capability up to 78 kips per axle. JAXPORT has the highest and widest cargo clearance available for port access by rail on CSX's national system: 20 feet high and 13 feet wide. Northeast Florida's skilled workforce offers a variety of labor options, including highly trained master riggers specializing in heavy lift and project cargo.

Skilled labor has long been the region's clincher for specialized cargo movements. "Experience is key. We are equipped to load and unload anything onto or off of any ship," said Frank Camp, JAXPORT director of non-containerized sales. "Our diversified cargo base gives us the know-how to cater to the unique needs of break bulk and heavy-lift customers. Cargo gets in and out without delay, saving our customers time and money."

INVESTING IN THE FUTURE

A wide-ranging effort is underway to enhance infrastructure at Blount Island and Talleyrand terminals. Upgrades to wharves, on-dock rail and terminal pavement areas are under construction. These capital improvements – made possible by $100 million in federal and state funds – enable JAXPORT to continue to build the port of the future.

The Florida Department of Transportation, nationally recognized for its innovative programs, has invested more than $1.2 billion in JAXPORT and the region during the past five years, and has pledged an additional $1 billion to local infrastructure projects.
